

The City of Edinburgh Grant Funded Organisations 2020/24:

STRATEGIC PARTNERS:

Artlink (Grant awarded in principle, per financial year = £100,000) - Artlink is an innovative arts organisation that tackles inequalities. They use involvement in the arts to build individual potential and address social issues that affect some of the most marginalised people in our community. They bring people from very different backgrounds together to work in creative partnership and promote practical change within our communities. They work with a wide variety of partners in the arts, health and social care as well as collaborators who have lived experience of disability, their carers and families. Together they ensure that the artistic practice is of the highest quality and remains relevant to ever-changing needs and aspirations.

Centre for Moving Image (The Filmhouse and the Edinburgh International Film Festival) (Grant awarded in principle, per financial year = £100,000) - Scotland's leading independent cinema, celebrating world cinema in all its brilliance and diversity. Filmhouse is home of the Edinburgh International Film Festival which is the longest continually running film festival in the world and has a reputation for debate, discovery and the development of new talent.

Dance Base (Grant awarded in principle, per financial year = £50,000) - Dance Base is on a mission to get more people dancing. The organisation exists to encourage and celebrate the potential for dance in everyone. Their mission, as a National Centre for Dance in Scotland, is to offer a vibrant and uplifting focal point for dance as an art form, a way to exercise, and a way of life. They reach out to inspire wellbeing and creativity, and cultivate a future for dance in local, national and international communities.

Edinburgh Art Festival (Grant awarded in principle, per financial year = £20,000) - Edinburgh Art Festival is the platform for the visual arts at the heart of Edinburgh's August festivals, bringing together the capital's leading galleries, museums and artist-run spaces in a city-wide celebration of the very best in visual art. Each year, the Festival features leading international and UK artists alongside the best emerging talent, major survey exhibitions of historic figures, and a special programme of newly commissioned artworks that respond to public and historic sites in the city.

Edinburgh Festival Fringe Society (Grant awarded in principle, per financial year = £75,000) - For three weeks in August the Edinburgh Festival Fringe opens the doors, streets and alleyways of an entire city to an explosion of creative energy from around the globe. The Edinburgh Festival Fringe Society is the organisation that underpins the Edinburgh Festival Fringe. The founding principle at the heart of the Edinburgh Festival Fringe is to be an open access festival that accommodates anyone with a desire to perform and a venue willing to host them. No single individual or committee determines who can or cannot perform at the Fringe. The Fringe Society is the custodian of the Fringe's core values of open access and freedom of expression.

Edinburgh International Book Festival (Grant awarded in principle, per financial year = £50,000) - The Edinburgh International Book Festival is one of the largest public celebrations of the written word in the world and a key event in the city's festival season. For 17 days every August it brings together over 900 writers, poets, politicians, illustrators, musicians and thinkers from around the world to share stories and ideas and discuss the things that shape our lives. From Nobel prize-winners and household names to the literary stars of tomorrow, the Book Festival offers an inspiring and surprising range of events for all ages, from babies to adults. Around 240,000 visits are made to the Book Festival's home every year, a specially created tented village in the leafy green space of Charlotte Square Gardens and along the west end of George Street, in the heart of historic Edinburgh – the world's first UNESCO City of Literature.
